

Ending the War, Ending Slavery

In January 1865 – three months before the war ended – Congress passed the 13th Amendment to the Constitution, outlawing slavery in the United States. The war ended when the Confederacy surrendered in April 1865. After that, all states were once again part of the United States of America. In December 1865, slavery was finally abolished in the entire United States when the last state ratified (passed) the 13th Amendment.

Soldiers buried at Arlington Cemetery

President Johnson

Reconstructing a Nation

President Abraham Lincoln is said to have saved or “preserved the Union” by winning the war to keep all the states together. But the war left much of the South destroyed and disorganized, and the Southern states needed to be made part of the United States again. The new president, Andrew Johnson, believed the Southern states should be let back into the U.S. with no consequences. But many in Congress wanted to make sure the Southern politicians were punished for seceding. They also did not want Southern politicians to interfere with the new freedom of African Americans. This period of rebuilding after the Civil War is known as Reconstruction. Many in the South resisted the changes, and the federal government had to send troops to enforce the new civil rights laws.

Changing the Constitution

The 13th Amendment did not end the former slaves’ troubles. Many Southern states quickly passed laws to restrict what little freedom the former slaves had. Something more was needed to expand and protect the rights of the former slaves. As part of the Reconstruction effort, Congress added two more amendments to the Constitution. In 1868, the 14th Amendment guaranteed citizenship to all people born in the U.S. This amendment also gave all citizens the right to due process and equal protection under the law. In 1870, the 15th Amendment gave all men the right to vote regardless of their race or whether they had been slaves before the war.

Due Process

Due process means people have the right to be treated fairly by the government. There are two kinds of due process. One has to do with what a law actually says. Laws must be fair and reasonable. The government cannot pass laws that unfairly limit people’s life, liberty, or property. The other type of due process has to do with how laws are enforced. Government officials must follow certain rules or procedures when they enforce laws. They cannot take away or limit someone’s life, liberty, or property without following those rules.

Equal Protection

Equal protection under the 14th Amendment means the government must treat people equally. Unreasonable discrimination by the government is not allowed. If a law does treat one group of people differently, the government must prove there is a good reason for it. Courts will decide if that reason is good enough to let the law stand. Both equal protection and due process were rights that African Americans lacked due to their race and former state of slavery. By granting these rights, as well as the right to vote, the Constitution expanded citizenship to a whole new group of Americans.

Civil War & Reconstruction

Name: _____

A. Vocabulary. Use the word bank to complete each sentence.

due process secession Emancipation Proclamation equal protection Reconstruction

1. In the _____, Lincoln announced that all slaves in the South were free.
2. The period of rebuilding after the Civil War is called _____.
3. The _____ crisis occurred when eleven southern states declared their independence from the United States.
4. The 14th Amendment says that the government must treat all people the same way. This idea is called _____.
5. Fair treatment by the government, or _____, comes in two types: substantive (what the law says) and procedural (how the law is enforced).

B. Taking Sides. Match the quote with who probably said it.

“I grow cotton, but I can’t afford to own slaves. If they are freed, they might try to take my job!”

“I think slavery is terrible! Slavery is not needed and should be illegal! The government should do something about this.”

“Slaves are necessary to my cotton business. The government shouldn’t tell me how to run my plantation!”

Northern Abolitionist

Southern Slave Owner

Poor Southern Farmer

C. Confederacy or Union? Connect the person or term with the correct side of the war.

The North

United States of America (USA)

President Abraham Lincoln

Soldier Nickname: Billy Yank (Yankee)

President Jefferson Davis

National Capital: Richmond, VA

Soldier Nickname: Johnny Reb (Rebel)

National Capital: Washington, DC

The South

The Confederate States of America (CSA)

Civil War & Reconstruction

Name: _____

D. Name that Amendment! Select the correct Reconstruction amendment for each item.

Former slaves and men of all races can vote.

13th 14th 15th

If you are born in the U.S., you are a U.S. citizen.

13th 14th 15th

Slavery is illegal in the United States!

13th 14th 15th

Former slaves are protected by law and are considered citizens.

13th 14th 15th

Due process and equal protection are guaranteed to all.

13th 14th 15th

E. Impacting the Future. Which of the three Reconstruction amendments do you think had the greatest impact? Explain your answer.

F. Is That Fair? Based on the idea of due process, do you think these laws are constitutional? Write yes or no.

- _____ 1. People accused of a crime must be told what crime they're being accused of.
- _____ 2. People are only allowed to vote if they can pass a reading test.
- _____ 3. The government can disconnect your television service if you're watching unapproved programs.
- _____ 4. A school that suspends a student must notify the parents and give a reason for the suspension.
- _____ 5. People who look irresponsible cannot get a driver's license.
- _____ 6. Evidence obtained illegally cannot be used to convict someone in court.

G. Equality! Read each fictional law and identify the group that is being discriminated against. Use the word bank for your answers.

the disabled racial minorities
senior citizens working mothers

- 7. You are not allowed to work if you are over the age of 65. _____
- 8. People of different races have to go to different schools. _____
- 9. Public buses and trains do not have to be accessible to people in wheelchairs.

- 10. Women can not teach school if they are pregnant. _____